

EBSCO is pleased to announce the release of three Anthropological resources now available on EBSCO host ; Anthropological Index , Anthropological Literature and Anthropology Plus .

With these resources, researchers will have access to comprehensive indexing for anthropology, archaeology and related interdisciplinary research. For a brief product description and product page links, please see below.

Anthropological Literature : published by the Tozzer Library at Harvard University , This comprehensive international resource contains articles and essays on social and cultural anthropology, Old and New World archaeology, physical anthropology and anthropological aspects of related subjects, emphasizing Mesoamerican, Native American and Andean archaeology and ethnology.

Anthropological Index : published by the Royal Anthropological Institute, This resource contains information from a broad geographical range, emphasizing the Commonwealth and Africa, and extending to Eastern Europe, the Americas, Asia, Australasia and the Pacific and offers worldwide indexing of all core periodical and lesser-known journals from the late 19th century to today.

Anthropology Plus : As a compilation of the Anthropological Index and Anthropological Literature databases, this resource provides extensive indexing of journal articles, reports, commentaries, edited works and obituaries in the fields of social, cultural, physical, biological and linguistic anthropology, ethnology, archaeology, folklore, material culture, etc.